FFO 32A-6. On the morning of 1st February, seven A-20G's flew to Southern Luzon to support troops in the Nasugbu area. The ground station ordered the airplanes to attack Jap artillery pieces north of Kaytitinga which was holding up the progress of our troops. 55 x 100 lb parademos and 10,300 rounds of .50 caliber ammunition were expended in bombing and strafing the foothills. Several shacks were destroyed and one field piece was believed damaged.

FFO 33A-6. On the morning of February 2nd, six A-20G's again flew to the Nasugbu area on Luzon, in order to support ground troops. 38 x 100 lb parademos and 6,100 rounds of ammunition were expended over the target that had been spotted by L-5's dropping smoke bombs. The foothills north of Kaytitinga were again the target. One Jap artillery piece was destroyed near a small hut on a hill-top. All other results were unobserved.

FFO 33A-10. The afternoon of the 2nd of February, six A-20G's took off to again support our troops in the Nasugbu area of Southern Luzon. Only five of the A-20's got to the target, as one airplane was forced to return because of engine trouble. The target to be attacked was designated by the ground station. The foothills southeast of Caylaway village were attacked with 50 x 100 lb parademos being dropped and 8,600 rounds of .50 caliber ammunition were expended in strafing. One large building and garage housing a camouflaged truck was destroyed and some piles of supplies nearby were damaged. All the Jap artillery pieces that had held up our troops in the Kaytitinga area, were reported by the ground radio, as knocked out by A-20's of the Third Group.

FFO 37A-2. The morning of February 6th marked the first strike by this squadron, on Negros Island; the Fabrica saw mill and sugar central being the target. Ten A-20's made the attack. 16 x 100 lb Napalm bombs and 584 x 23 lb parafrags were dropped on the target and 10,400 rounds of .50 caliber ammunition were expended in strafing. Several buildings in the labor quarters were destroyed. The power plant was slightly damaged and a fire was started in a large lumber storage shed nearby. A small fire was set in the Lopez sugar central and several small fires were started in the Insular sawmill. Intense, medium, and accurate A/A was received near the southeast dispersal loop of Fabrica Strip, holding one A-20. Intense, medium and accurate, as to altitude, A/A was received from a position 1000 feet north of the north end of Fabrica Strip and from the southeast dispersal area. Intense, light and accurate M/G fire, holding one A-20, came from a camouflaged pit 1500 feet east of the steel bridge.

FFO 38A-9. On 7 February, ten A-20's flew to the Clark Field area to support troops in the foothills west of Fort Stotenburg. The target area was designated by two P-40's dropping smoke bombs. Only one attack was made before the squadron was ordered to return to its base. 6 x 250 lb parademos and 5 x 100 lb Napalm bombs were dropped and 5,800 x .50 caliber ammunition was expended in strafing, all with unobserved results. One A-20 was holed by M/G fire from an unknown position.

Fragmentary Field Orders covering the above operations will be found in Appendix starting on page 16.

FFO 39A-1. On the 8 February, nine A-20s flew to Mariveles Town on Bataan to attack the area between Mariveles and Panikian. 18 x 100 lb napalm bombs and 36 x 250 lb parademos were dropped and 12,600 x .50 caliber rounds of ammunition were expended. One large house was destroyed at Mariveles and three fires were started in Panikian. One house was destroyed and a jetty damaged at Lilibon Village. A serviceable barge was damaged off shore by Lilibon Village.

FFO 40A-2. Nine A-20s made an attack between the Babuyan River and Bataan Strip. 36 x 250 lb parademos and 18 x 100 lb napalm bombs were dropped and 11,700 x .50 caliber rounds of ammunition were expended. One large oil fire was started on the South side of Bataan Strip.

FFO 40A-6. On the afternoon of February 9th, nine A-20s flew to the East coast of Bataan to attack targets between the Babuyan River and Lokanin Village. 18 x 100 lb napalm bombs and 35 x 250 lb parademos were dropped on the target damaging shacks in Cabcaban Village and Lokanin Village as well as damaging supplies near a jetty at Cabcaban. The entire target area was strafed with 10,800 x .50 caliber rounds of ammunition, causing nil visible damage. Intense, light and inaccurate machine gun fire came from the North jetty at Cabcaban.

FFO 41A-2. On the morning of 10 February, nine A-20Gs flew to the East coast of Bataan to attack the Mariveles Cabcaban road. 16 x 100 lb napalm and 36 x 250 lb parademos were along the road and on Cabcaban Village destroying several huts at Cabcaban. Slight, light and inaccurate machine gun fire came from the North jetty at Cabcaban. 11,900 rounds of .50 caliber ammunition were expended in strafing the target.

FFO 41A-6. In the afternoon of 10 February, nine A-20Gs flew to the East coast of Bataan to attack the area between the Babuyan River and Lokanin Village. 18 x 100 lb napalm bombs and 36 x 250 lb parademos were dropped on Cabcaban and Lokanin Villages starting two fires and damaging several huts. Propaganda leaflets were dropped over the target as ordered. Moderate, light and inaccurate M/G fire came from the North jetty and from a position near Bataan Strip. The target was strafed with 11,900 rounds of .50 caliber ammunition.

FFO 42A-6. On the afternoon of 11 February, nine A-20s flew to Bataan to attack Mariveles Village. 18 x 100 lb napalm bombs and 35 x 250 lb parademos were dropped on the target area destroying two huts and damaging several more at Mariveles Village. Sisiman Village was bombed and strafed destroying six huts. Slight M/G fire was encountered. The entire target was strafed with 13,750 rounds of .50 caliber ammunition.

Fragmentary Field Orders covering the above operations will be found in the Appendix starting on page 16.

FFO 43A-1. On the morning of 12 February, nine A-20Gs flew to Bataan to attack the road between Mariveles and Bataan Airdrome. 18 x 250 lb delay fused bombs and 36 x 500 lb delay fused bombs were dropped in a gully Northwest of Mariveles, in the road, on Cabcaban Village and on Lokanin Village. Supplies were set on fire in the gully and several huts were destroyed in Cabcaban and Likanin Villages. Moderate, light and inaccurate M/G fire came from Cabcaban Town. 12,950 rounds of .50 caliber ammunition were expended in strafing the target.

FFO 43A-4. On the afternoon of 12 February, nine A-20Gs bombed and strafed the road between Mariveles and Cabcaban and on to Lokanin Village. 18 x 250 lb delay fused bombs, 36 x 500 lb delay fused bombs and 12 x 100 lb napalm bombs were dropped on the target. All bombs hit in the target area destroying several huts in Cabcaban and Likanin Towns, but other definite results were unobserved. There was slight M/G fire from the North jetty at Cabcaban. The entire target area was thoroughly strafed with 16,000 rounds of ammunition. Propaganda leaflets were dropped as ordered.

FFO 44A-13. On the morning of 13 February, nine A-20Gs bombed and strafed Pambuko Village, Bataan Peninsula. 36 x 500 lb delay fused bombs and 18 x 250 lb delay fused bombs were dropped on the target destroying one large shed and several small shacks. The target was strafed with 13,000 rounds of .50 caliber ammunitions. Slight, light inaccurate M/G fire came from an unidentified position North of Cabcaban Strip.

FFO 44A-16. On the afternoon of 13 February, nine A-20Gs bombed and strafed Pambuko Village, Bataan Peninsula. 34 x 500 lb delay fused bombs and 18 x 250 lb delay fused bombs were dropped on the target destroying shacks in Pambuko and a small arms ammunition dump off the Northwest end of Cabcaban Strip. 10,050 rounds of .50 caliber ammunition were expended in strafing the target.

FFO 45A-11. In the afternoon of February 14th, nine A-20Gs bombed and strafed the Pambuko Area on Bataan Peninsula. 16 x 250 lb delay fused bombs and 32 x 500 lb delay fused bombs were dropped on the target destroying three huts at Cabcaban and starting a small fire at Pambuko. The area was thoroughly strafed with 9,400 x .50 caliber rounds of ammunition. Slight, light inaccurate M/G fire came from Cabcaban Town.

FFO 46A-4. On the morning of 15 February, twelve A-20s flew to Bataan to support the landing at Mariveles. 34 x 250 lb parademos were dropped on the hillside near the winding road Northeast of Mariveles damaging a log pillbox on the roadside. The entire area was strafed with 11,400 rounds of .50 caliber ammunition. There was slight machine gun fire from Mariveles Town.

Fragmentary Field Orders covering the above operations will be found in the Appendix starting on page 16.

FFO 47A-2. On the 16 February, twelve A-20G's flew to Corregidor Island to support the paratroop and amphibious operation. 24 x 250 lb delay fused bombs and 47 x 250 lb parademos were dropped on either side of Manlinta Hill with results unobserved. The target was strafed with 20,400 rounds of .50 caliber ammunition.

FFO 49A-4. On the morning of February 18th, fourteen A-20G's started for Jesselton Airdrome, North Borneo, but all airplanes turned back due to weather with all their bombs and ammunition.

FFO 52A-2. On the 21st of February, six A-20's took off to bomb — and strafe Jesselton Airdrome, North Borneo, with Puerto Princesa, Palawan, P.I., as their secondary target. One A-20 had engine trouble near Puerto Princesa that cleared up a few minutes after he had turned back, so the airplane returned to attack the secondary target, making one bombing and one strafing pass over the town with unobserved results. The airplane was hit by ground fire on the last pass and crashed into the water after both engines had quit. The gunner went down with the A-20, but the pilot was thrown clear and later found his way back to base through the help of Filipino Guerrillas. The other five airplanes hit Jesselton, making one run from North to South over the area. They dropped 50 x 100 lb parademos along the railroad and on the North dispersal areas of No. 1 strip and expended 6,900 rounds of .50 caliber ammunition in strafing the race track and the Southeast dispersal area. 10 x 100 lb parademos were returned.

FFO 57A-3. Nine A-20's reached Puerto Princesa, which was the target on 26th of February, and made two bombing and strafing runs from North to South along the main road to the strips. 18 x 250 lb 8 to 15 second delay fused bombs and 90 x 100 parademos were dropped and 13,450 rounds of .50 caliber ammunition were expended along both sides of the road, destroying two small huts and starting a fire. 2 x 250 lb 8 to 15 second delay fused bombs and 10 x 100 lb parademos were returned.

FFO 58A-2. The mission on 27th of February, was the second, in a series of three, that this squadron flew to Puerto Princesa. Thirteen airplanes took off at 0840/I to hit bivouac and supply areas. Eleven A-20's reached the target and made one pass from Northwest to Southeast over the area dropping 20x250 lb, 8 to 15 second delay fused bombs and 105 x 100 lb parademos were dropped and 16,900 rounds of .50 caliber ammunition were expended in the target area. Two small shacks were destroyed, but other bombing and strafing damage could not be determined due to bomb smoke and vegetation. Two airplanes returned soon after take-off, due to mechanical failure.

Fragmentary Field Orders covering the above operations will be found in the Appendix starting on page 16.

February 4, 1945 proved to be a very lucky day for T/Sgt. Richard C. Gentry, 35256690, a flight chief in this squadron. Sgt. Gentry, whose home is in Harrodsburg, Kentucky, had a younger brother, William H. Gentry, who was a 1st Lieutenant in the 192nd Tank Battalion. Late in 1941, Lt. Gentry left the states with his outfit for the Philippines. They were garrisoned in Manila when war broke out and during the ensuing fight, the outfit ended up on the Bataan Peninsula. The first tank battle in United States history was fought here with a definite victory being scored by the U.S. tanks. 2500 Japs were killed in this battle. The Japs later erected a monument for their dead on the battle ground. After the surrender of our troops on Bataan, Lt. Gentry was captured and forced to accompany many other captives on the now famous "Death March" from Bataan. The march was all that it had been cracked up to be. No food or water, the terrific sun coupled with Jap cruelty, made the march a living hell. Filipino patriots offering food were shot and the sick were killed where they dropped.

After surviving the ordeal, Lt. Gentry was put in a prison camp at Manila and was later transferred to the Davao camp on Mindanao. Here Lt. Gentry worked on a large coconut plantation until October, 1944. In October, he and a group of fellow prisoners were herded on a Jap transport and taken back to Manila. Lt. Gentry was taken to the Cabanatuan prison camp, located at Cabanatuan. Late in January of 1945, he was freed, along with the other prisoners, by the daring attack made by the 6th Ranger Battalion aided by Filipino Guerrillas. Sgt. Gentry had just come back from the movies when he was told that a Lt. William Gentry had been freed from a Jap prison camp. Sgt. Gentry had almost given up hope, believing that his brother had been killed. Bright and early the following day, Sgt. Gentry was bundled into an A-20 and rushed to Lingayen Field in North Luzon. It is impossible to adequately describe the meeting of the two brothers, but needless to say, it was a memorable one.

The squadron was quite surprised and extremely glad to see Lt. Charles E. Newton and his gunner, S/Sgt. John J. Shuler, walk into the area on the afternoon of February 3, 1945. Both pilot and gunner had been classed as missing in action on January 26th and no word had been received of their escape prior to their dramatic return.

On the afternoon of January 26th, Lt. Newton became separated from the squadron in heavy weather over Balete Pass. He made an attempt to climb above the weather, but upon breaking out above the overcast, he found no trace of the rest of the A-20's. Being low on gas he headed toward the East coast of Luzon and made an excellent water landing off shore near Cape Encanto, Balabac Bay.

Neither Lt. Newton nor his gunner were injured and managed to reach shore in safety by using the rubber raft. They spent the first night in the jungle. On the 29th, they carefully approached a native who was friendly and gave them food and shelter. Later, this same native took them to Guerrilla Headquarters where an American Intelligence Officer was located. Lt. Newton and Sgt. Shuler remained here and were treated royally by the Guerrillas. Finally, on the 2nd of February, a rescue Catalina was summoned and both Lt. Newton and Sgt. Shuler were returned to Mindoro Island, none the worse for their exciting experience.
